LETTER FROM THE CHAIRPERSON'S DESK

DR AJAY SHARMA
CHAIRPERSON &
THE FOUNDER DIRECTOR

I always experienced a longing to recognize my responsibilities and reciprocate by contributing to the progress and development of our society.

Now, when this vision of duty, objective and faith has become a reality, it is a proud moment for me and our organization Sambal Foundation to see hundreds of deprived persons gaining meaningful benefits that are significant for their survival and growth.

Sambal foundation follows a unique approach of empowering the youth and using their energy and zeal to reach out to the needy. It believes the youth of today has the power to bring about a change. Channelizing this power towards a social goal is what Sambal aspires to do. Consequently, our goal is to join hands with university students to serve the country by empowering the underprivileged class of our nation and lending a helping hand to the person standing at the last of the social thread.

We ensure that the people of India get to experience sustainable growth and get access to education and employment, and essential services. This ensures that the benefits of economic growth reach the smallest denominator.

Among many of our initiatives, University Chapter is one such Initiative, where we provide students with an opportunity to a professional work environment and skill-enhancing scenarios while developing the attributes of social empathy within them. Sambal Foundation (an initiative by Vedic Society) in collaboration with the universities volunteers to organize events & workshops at the old age home and NGOs to create a world that embraces the pain of the deprived and is willing to offer love, care, and an extended hand of support to stand tall again. We also aim to guide the youth towards a sustainable, more empowered, and equitable society filled with the energy of empathy and compassion.

Our approach takes a much more determined, strategic view on and sustainability, focused on empowering individuals to produce positive impacts, socially and environmentally. This way, individuals transmute themselves into powerful engines for innovation and growth, contributing actively towards the growth of strong and healthy communities, prosperous and sustainable cities and flourishing ecosystems.

On this note, I would like to say that Community-driven action is the way Sambal intends to implement the change. You could be a helping hand in the transformation process along with Sambal.

JOIN US AS A VOLUNTEER & PARTNER IN DEVELOPING A BETTER TOMORROW!

SANDRA HAMILTON & CURE CANCER

Cure Cancer @ UCL has one of the largest faculties dedicated to cancer medicine.

The CureCancer @ UCL was established in 2007 by Mrs Sandra Hamilton to support cancer research at UCL. UCL cancer research Institute is in the heart of London and is part of UCL [University College London]. UCL is consistently ranked within the top 20 global universities. The Cancer Institute is part of the Faculty of Medical Sciences, within the School of Life- and Medical Sciences. This School comprises the largest concentration of biomedical researchers in Europe. The Cancer Institute hosts the majority of cancer research at UCL, whilst other cancer activities across the UCL campus form part of a new. The overall remit of the Institute is to develop a cancer presence and excellence, which rivals other major national and international hubs for cancer research.

Particular areas of strength include stem cell biology, transcription factors, cell cycle, translational immunology, genomics and bioinformatics, mechanisms of chromatin regulation, gene and immunotherapy, viral oncology, drug development, and clinical trials.

UCL is affiliated with several London teaching hospitals, including University College London Hospital (UCLH), the Royal Free Hospital, and Great Ormond Street Hospital for Sick Children. The 'UCH MacMillan Cancer Centre' will be a world-class outpatient cancer care facility opening in 2012. It is located directly opposite the UCL Cancer Institute on Huntley Street.

ABOUT SANDRA HAMILTON

Sandra Hamilton has been associated with Sambal Foundation for a good few years now. Her story began when her NHL got to a point where she required more comprehensive treatment and in January 2015, she began a 6-month journey to undertake high-dose chemotherapy with Rituximab and stem cell therapy in the HCA facility at University College London Hospital.

Appreciatively owing to the machinery of Cure Cancer @ UCL Cancer Institute, Sandra can have much more targeted and detailed treatment! She is still being her normal marvelous self and an absolute trooper soldiering through with a smile on her face.

Highly impressed by her valor and enthusiasm, Sambal has decided to feature her in their magazine cover story to ensure that something positive can be acquired from her experience and make the process valuable.

IN HER OWN WORDS:

I have to start by saying I'm not the most religious of people but saying by the grace of God go I when it comes to being ill is very poignant. If it wasn't for the researchers at UCL Cancer Institute and my belief I don't think I'd be here today. Until a person has walked in my shoes, I don't think anyone can fully understand what a cancer patient goes through.

Being diagnosed back in 2007 and being given only six months and then three months to live is an awakening. Learning to live what life you have and make the best of a bad situation is the most important piece of advice I can give anyone. I've been privileged to work with the team at Sambal for some years now, as learning to give back is so fulfilling. I started the charity Cure Cancer @UCL cancer institute in 2010 shortly after my father died of the same incurable cancer. I was determined to make sure that no one needlessly suffers from having treatment that probably won't help. So, I joined UCL and its research team. They straddle 2 worlds with one of the researchers and then they take what they learn in the laboratory to help personalize treatments at the bedside.

So, to get the news that my non-Hodgkin's cancer after my stem cell treatment in 2015 was officially cured in 2022 and I was now one of just the 3 percentile that has been cured was breathtaking. I am still left with the 1st cell plasma dyscrasia which unfortunately is more than likely a direct result of the stem cell therapy and a bone cancer called smoldering myeloma

More than ever, I feel we need to make sure that we reach sustainability so that when I pass away the charity can live on in perpetuity and each and every year the research wish list is fulfilled. This is why I like sambal and have affiliated myself with them.

Helping them teach people how to help themselves. It is pointless giving a thirsty man a bottle of water. It is more important to teach that man how to find water so he never needs to be thirsty again. These thoughts can be applied to medical technology, basically anything. Help teach someone how to make, how to do and they never need to be hungry or thirsty ever again as they can take that knowledge and share that knowledge. They say knowledge is king and I totally agree.

My charity runs solely on donations 100% of what we raise at an event goes directly to the purchase of the research equipment that is needed. With that thought in mind, if anyone from around the world would donate just 1 pound, we can make such a difference.

If I can reach 1 million people who are willing to donate even just £1, I've reached my sustainability, and I know that when my time comes my legacy will live on.

I've always felt sorry for my family and my husband and my friends. We are fighting the fight and they can only look on and watch. It is heart-rendering. But there is a light at the end after having stem cell Therapy back in 2015 I can say my family received some fabulous news I never thought I would make the 3%! My stem cell transplant worked. I am officially cured of 1 of my 3 cancers. My NHL is a thing of the past. Now have to sort 1st cell plasma dyscrasia & smoldering myeloma. More than ever, we need to support the research team.

So, this year can I ask even if you can only Donate £1 to the cause?

I would really appreciate it if you'd like to know a bit more about the charity. Please check our website www.curecancer-ucl.org

Kind regards

Sandra Hamilton

We also got an opportunity to have a little chit-chat with Sandra on the importance of volunteering and how empathy plays a role in the overall growth of one's Emotional Quotient (EQ)

Q1. One thing you're known for?

A: The ability to get things done

Q2: Do you feel today's generation can make use of Empathy to solve bigger problems in their daily life?

A: If they are taught, yes but unfortunately empathy seems on the decline

Q3: Do you think volunteering can help students in the various future prospects?

A: DEFINITELY

Q4: According to you, what all sectors require the assistance of a volunteer most?

A: I don't think it's a simple one word answer. If not taught, so many of this generation are about what can you do for me. But most if explained can make a difference in any sector of life- they Can Make a difference, not just by putting their hands in their pockets but by teaching others to help themselves? Then any sector

Q5: How do you think associating with sambal currently can help all the students?

A: I am living my life through troubling times myself and don't live my life through the rose-tinted glass and I never had my life handed to me on a plate. My parents taught me the value of a pound and said if I want a nice life go get a job. So I did at 15.

HOW VOLUNTEERING CAN HELP IN GOOD CANDIDATURE

With demanding lives, it can be tough for students to find time to volunteer. Nevertheless, the benefits of volunteering can be massive. Volunteering offers dynamic help to people in need, worthwhile causes, and the community, but the advantages can be even greater for the volunteer student. The correct match can help them to find friends, connect with the community, acquire new skills, and even develop their careers. Giving to others can moreover help protect their mental and physical health.

To exhibit the magnitude of the initiative, let's ponder over how volunteering can help in good candidature:

- Volunteering imbues an empathetic feeling in students, which in turn, makes them thoughtful towards society, particularly the deprived. An essence of harmony, compassion, generosity, and empathy blossoms within them, guaranteeing their fair duty towards the world out there! Connecting with different people of diverse backgrounds enlarges their outlook, empowers their decision-making approach and allows them to knob tough situations smoothly- mentally, physically, emotionally, or financially.
- Volunteering moreover makes a difference by enabling eloquent engagement and collaborating with diverse agencies and institutions to execute programs for the upliftment of society. This way, there will be no stone unturned when it comes to helping a child, the elderly, or the deprived on our social map.
- Volunteering further boosts the skills of the students by offering them the required guidance and expertise. Students can acquire different abilities like event management, teamwork, social cooperation, and many more so that they are not left behind when it comes to acquiring employment and financial independence and contributing toward a reasonable society.
- Most prominently, students take leadership roles and contribute to strategizing, planning & executing events, and comprehending the mission of social initiatives by making a better world one step at a time. Furthermore, their communication and public speaking abilities are also inclined to improve.

Now being an Amity student myself, I understand the significance and worth of volunteering. While studying and partying may take up a lot of my time, making space for some voluntary work can really add value to my overall university experience.

I think student volunteering is a prodigious way to make an actual contribution to a cause you feel strongly about. For me, it is an opportunity to meet people with similar passions. This is similarly a prospect to learn a lot, because of the diversity of the people you'll be working alongside – all bringing different viewpoints, experiences, and skills.

When I will go for a job interview, having student volunteering work on my CV will always be a bonus. No matter how what industry I am applying to, employers always like to see part of the candidate's wider personality, and what they actually care about.

Holding onto this vision in mind, the Sambal foundation started a unique approach of empowering the youth and using their energy and zeal to reach out to the needy as the youth of today has the power to bring about a change. Channelizing this power towards a social goal is what Sambal aspires to do. Consequently, it joined hands with university students to serve the country by empowering the underprivileged class of our nation and lending a helping hand to the person standing at the last of the social thread Project Karuna was one such Initiative, where students were provided with an opportunity to volunteer in a professional work environment and skill-enhancing scenarios while developing the attributes of social empathy within them. Sambal Foundation (an initiative by Vedic Society) in collaboration with the universities volunteered to organize events & workshops at the old age home and NGOs to create a world that embraces the pain of the deprived and is willing to offer love, care, and an extended hand of support to stand tall again. Under this initiative, students were to form a team amongst themselves and lesioned with the Sambal team and non-profits to organize events, workshops, and webinars and further generate volunteer opportunities for other students in their university/college. In this program, they got to work as professionals and run the organization at different levels, working as a team, thus, engaging with the outside world in a more structured manner. This not only encouraged more and more students to participate in the initiative but also develop the feeling of 'Karuna' or 'Empathy' amongst them.

MENTAL HEALTH AWARENESS PROGRAM FOR HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

AMITY X SAMBAL

Being a grassroots global charity organization, Sambal Foundation takes pride in organizing a successful Mental Health Awareness Program for handicapped children, which concluded with flying colours. The event was held in liaison with the students of Amity University, Jaipur, our university partner. The core purpose of the event was to facilitate a sense of community service and volunteering among university students and meanwhile awareness regarding mental health among the handicapped and deprived children of the Bal Sambal Foundation.

Organized on Tuesday, 11 October 2022 at Bal Sambal Foundation, Sirohi Village, Chandwaji, Rajasthan, the program was well attended by almost 70 participants, who went away with happy and satisfied faces.

Under the program, drawing & painting activities were conducted, which aimed to explore the mental ability of the children. It is very vital and indispensable to develop creativity and imagination among young soldiers! Optimistically, the outcome of the event was a happy and successful one, and the job was very well done.

The deprived children were given a task that enhanced and developed their mental aptitude, thus providing them with remarkable exposure and a wonderful time. We believe that basic education and skill development could empower such handicapped children which, in turn, can bring fortune to the human community.

Amity university students gained a perfect volunteering opportunity, which imbibed a sense of empathy and social service within them. Our purpose is to unfold compassion in the youths of the Nation and lead by example.

And lastly, the NGO was successful in accomplishing its purpose of community service and development. The Sambal Foundation indeed rely on taking a holistic approach to sustainable development, through consulting and collaborating with communities to meet their needs and goals and help the indigent and distressed to become self-reliant and thus empowering the community as a whole. We believe in sharing ideas and collaborating with people to bring real positive CHANGE and develop Empathy in the Millennium.

About Apna Ghar (Jamdoli)

The organization was started by Dr B.R. Bharadwaj in March 2020. Apna Ghar exists in 39 other places across the country.
